Nicodemus Came by Night

His need to know how Jesus did his mighty works broke the bounds of habit and convention.

This is the need and right of every man. For the truth of God, and man's relationship to Him, is not so strange as it has been supposed to be.

A remarkable book, read and studied in every quarter of the globe

SCIENCE and HEALTH WITH KEY TO THE SCRIPTURES

by Mary Baker Eddy

shows that the understanding of God is natural to man.

Why is this important? Because knowledge of the actual Science of Christ leads to freedom that is God-given. It brings new hope, new health, and best of all, new understanding to any sincere seeker.

Bible Words for Today

I PETER 5:7 — "Cast all your anxieties on God, for he cares about you." (RSV)

We develop an anxiety when we face a situation we fear we shall not be able to handle successfully. Anxieties are fears over which we have lost control. Thus we become their victims, and they will prove to be our undoing, unless we "cast all our anxieties upon God, for He cares about us!"

We know much about our world. Many of the fears it used to create have been removed because of understanding. There remain the instances of accident, disaster, death—these we know we can never fully control. To them we must add the experiences in which the human equation stands to the fore. In situations that are unpredictable or uncontrollable we can develop anxieties. The best personal attitude to have in such situations is to think about God, and to make yourself realize that He knows and He cares. Such thinking relaxes one's own mind and soul, it eliminates fears, and creates a sense of composure that produces constructive behavior. God is available, we can count on Him, He cares for us. Each day walk humbly with God. Such partnership assures achievement.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Formula For Happiness

I once knew a man who did an unusual thing in building a new home. He included what he called "a silence room." It was just a cubbyhole, not much bigger than six by six, but it was beautifully decorated.

On the walls he had soft shades of color. Harmonizing with this were curtains at the windows. A thick carpet covered the floor. But the only furnishing were a table, a chair, a picture, and a book.

From my description of this room you might think that the chair was an overstuffed lounge chair. But it wasn't; it was a straight chair. He called it a "disciplinary chair," for my friend didn't go into that room to sleep. He went there to be alive, happily and quietly alive.

How did he go about it? He would enter that room at the end of a busy day. That one book in it was the Bible, which rested on the table. He would pull up his straight chair, open the Book, and proceed to saturate his mind with its great words of quietness and peace.

THE ONE PICTURE he had placed on the wall was of the Matterhorn, that great projection of rock climbing into the skies, covered always with its eternal snows, brooding over the quaint little town which lies at its feet. After reading a while, he would lift his eyes from the Book and contemplate the picture; then he would say, "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help."

Thus would this man induce quietness into mind and heart. And, as he did so, he would feel a resurgence of strength, power and vitality. This ultimately gave him a sense of real happiness, more than he had ever known.

His idea has now taken hold in other places. How many homes have "silence rooms"? I do not know, but many public places have rooms set aside, decorated and equipped for such private meditation. In many places they are called "meditation rooms." There is one such room at the United Nations in New York, and Conrad Hilton has taken a personal interest in making such rooms a service to guests of some of the Hilton hotels. Some business offices and industrial plants have meditation rooms where people may pray and find peace and strength.

PEOPLE FIND such rooms very helpful because, in a confused,

Parole Denied To Solly Hart

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Solly Hart, convicted Cleveland slayer of Roy (Happy) Marino in Marion County, will have to spend a year and a half in prison before he gets another chance for parole.

The parole board at Ohio Penitentiary Thursday denied parole to Hart, former Cleveland underworld figure, who has spent the past 18½ years in prison.

The board said it will not review Hart's case again until he has spent 20 years behind bars.

The board also denied parole to Mario Gallina of Cleveland who was convicted in the 1937 slaying of two Cleveland detectives with Anthony Liberatore. His file showed that comedian Bob Hope interceded in his behalf in December, saying he would help Gallina find employment.

In other action, the board granted paroles to:

Dudley Adams, 44, East Liverpool, a trusty at the Junction City branch of the penitentiary, serving time for the 1935 slaying of Clarence Dickey, a milkman. The parole goes into effect March 28.

Joe Burton, 71, Portsmouth, serving time for the 1935 slaying of his brother, William. He will be paroled May 2.

Oscar Fitzgerald, 44, serving time for the 1932 slaying of Allie Mae Fitzgerald, his estranged wife, in Youngstown. Parole is set for March 28.

Aleck Kish, 71, Seneca County, convicted of the 1915 slaying of Catherine Myers. March 28 is the parole date.

John E. Green, received from Hamilton County in 1947 for the second-degree murder of his wife during a domestic quarrel. Parole March 28.

Green was convicted of second-degree murder. The sentence was reduced to manslaughter. The others who will gain freedom originally were serving first degree murder sentences.

Post Office Suspends Ohio Building Projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department says it is temporarily suspending its lease-purchase program for obtaining new post office buildings on the long-term payment plan.

The department said, however, it will permit the construction of a new post office at St. Marys, Ohio.

Ohio projects suspended by the department are:

Jefferson, $78,125; Rittman, $126,775; Toronto, $53,125; Cincinnati, (office building) $21,700,000; and Toledo (office building) $4,950,000.

WINS UNION ELECTION

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Lorain steelworker, Paul E. Schremp, is the apparent winner over incumbent B. W. Ohler in the contest for the $16,000-a-year directorship of Cleveland District 28, United Steelworkers. Unofficial results of Tuesday's voting give Schremp 15,115 votes to Ohler's 13,523. Ohler was supported for the post by David McDonald, union president.

ANSWER THIS QUESTION

Am I My Brother's Keeper?

Those words do come from the Bible. And they have sometimes been quoted to justify a man's lack of concern for the welfare of others.

When we quote Scripture we must be careful WHOM we are quoting!

It was Cain, the first murderer, who asked that biting question. God had said, "Where is Abel, thy brother?" And Cain was trying to escape the consequences of his crime.

Each of us is responsible for his brother's welfare. That is the very reason this feature is appearing in your newspaper.

You and your family need the spiritual resources our churches offer. In whichever Christian congregation you select there are waiting to welcome you many men and women and young people whose faith has taught them a deep concern for their brothers.

HOLY BIBLE

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs its moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Final Exams

Final exams, a customary practice in Salem high school 15 years ago, may be re-instituted by the Board of Education as a means of helping students prepare themselves for advanced education.

Whether or not to hold final tests is being discussed pro and con by board members and the educators. There is some difference of opinion as to the merit of the proposal.

Whatever the decision ultimately may be, the action will be for the best interests of the students, we believe. School board members are as vitally interested in academics as they are in paying bills and building new classrooms.

Unfortunately, too many boys and girls touch only the surface of their studies and succeed in sliding by on the seat of their scholastic britches.
Maybe the prospect of facing final exams will induce more pupils to become better students.
In an era of television distraction, parents should welcome any move that the school board takes to aid in the education of their children.

Rising Standards

A modest boost in Ohio State University's academic standards will remind its numerous alumni of something the alumni of voluntary colleges have been thinking about for several years.

Many a college graduate is facing up to the shocking realization that he either could not have measured up to higher academic standards, or would have had to work harder than he would have wanted to work to stay in school.

Ohio State will continue to admit all applicants for its freshman class. But thereafter it will try to weed out quickly and thoroughly every student who is "hopelessly lacking in either ability or desire." They should all be gone after two quarters.

The next step, of course, will be to weed out the hopeless cases before they have become a drain on the state's educational assets. All voluntary colleges do this routinely; they cannot afford to maintain facilities and teaching personnel for the convenience of non-educate students.

Ohio State is not yet prepared to take either this step, or the one that eventually must be taken to force students and their families to pay for higher education according to their means. There is a financial limit to Ohio's collective ability to underwrite optional higher education which expanding far more rapidly than the state's financial means.

Many voluntary colleges and universities are recovering rising costs with large annual boosts in tuition rates. There is no reason why state-supported colleges and universities should not use the same policy on a modified scale.

Best Preservative

Ohio taxpayers who are wondering where the state will stand out its next pound of flesh can quite worry about the possibility that Cedar Point will be added to their burden.

A special committee of the General Assembly that has been investigating the general idea of buying the Erie County resort for a state park has concluded that the idea is no good.

Its mind was made up for it by private refi nancing which assured Cedar Point of a promising future in private ownership. Therefore, the state has no reason to buy Cedar Point to save its recreation value.

With that deficit-maker out of the way, Ohio taxpayers now face a new hazard — the possi bility someone in the General Assembly may get the bright idea of saving the late Louis Bromfield's famed Malabar Farm by adding it to the state's holdings.

Malabar Farm, however wonderful it became under its master's lavish and loving care, does not belong in Ohio's real estate holdings. Per haps it, too, can be preserved by private ownership, which is still the best preservative.

It Could Happen

When it is remembered that last November's presidential election was still being counted early this year in some precincts, no one will be in a hurry to wrap up the official count in the United Steelworkers election last Tuesday.

But while official returns are being compiled,
one conclusion can be reached without any delay.
The giant union in the U.S. steel industry is in the midst of a momentous experiment in industrial democracy.

It has developed a two-party system. It has demonstrated that an opposition can take form and take action against the officials in office.

It now is theoretically possible for the highest officials of the union to run into trouble with dissident elements who do not like the way things are being done.

If USW officials do not let themselves get into a panic about this — if they can take the pros pect of industrial democracy in their stride —
the key industrial union in the United States can prove that workers possess the same so vereign power in unionism that citizens possess in the United States.

It could happen. If it did happen, industrial unionism would have come of age.

Religion In And On The Job

Brotherhood

By EUGENE CARR

We are on the eve of Brotherhood Week, an annual observance based on the premise that all men are brothers under the common Fatherhood of God.

This is a worthy project, deserving the interest and participation of men and women everywhere. If we did not pause to give time and thought to this principle, at least once a year, there is serious doubt it would be considered at all in many phases of life.

However, some confusion and misunderstanding surround the purposes and objectives of this organized effort in behalf of brotherhood. And this comes about not because the purposes and objectives are wrong, but because of a tendency to look upon the organization rather than the individual as the primary force at work.

God has shown very little concern for groups of people. He is interested in persons. He did not make man in the image of a group. He made each of us different, in body, mind and soul. He does not expect us to think and act as a group; He expects us to think and act as individuals.

The secret of brotherhood is simple. If a man conducts himself in such a way that another wants to be his brother, then the other will conduct himself in a manner worthy of the privilege.

But, the secret of brotherhood isn't difficult; it's the lack of practice that makes it difficult.

Something For The Boys

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Sen. Hubert Humphrey is the product of two formative influences. On the political side he is the authentic heir of the crackpot political movements under which he was born and grew to manhood — namely, the Non-Partisan League and the Farmer-Labor party.

These in turn inherited earlier inflationary and collectivist manias, the Granger movement and Populism.

The more recent influence is that of congeries of collectivists who find their focal point in the Americans for Democratic Action in which Sen. Humphrey is a leading elder.

Since Sen. Humphrey is an incessant talker and introducer of bills, his senatorial utterances provide an excellent pattern of the sort of civilization in which we would find ourselves, should the Humphreys take over the Democratic party and the Democratic party of the nation.

I have space today to consider only one of the many Humphrey plans, which is something he calls "The Youth Opportunity Program."

The Youth Opportunity Program is in five parts. Three have to do directly with education but as can be legitimately inferred, all five are designed to fasten the hand of a collectivist federal bureaucracy upon the minds of young Americans.

His first bill parallels the school-building program of the President. The second would provide federal money for scholarships in the amount of 40 million dollars for the first year and after that increasing by the same amount year after year, presumably so long as there are youths to get the money.

The third would give parents a tax credit up to $450 for what they spend on the education of their children.

The sum total of these benefits would not only relieve a very great many people with children of a very considerable part of their federal tax but would as the scholarship money piled up at a rate of increase of $40 million dollars a year, take all worries off the youth. Indeed, it would be much more attractive for youth to stay indefinitely at school than to go to work.

Beyond these three educational giveaways are two which really follow the pattern of continental

As I contemplate this program to lift all obstacles from the pathway of youth, I recall a homely sentiment expressed by Robert Frost in one of his poems, "How Many Disadvantages Are Necessary to Help a Boy Succeed?" But a final and most important point comes to mind.

How about a youth opportunity program which would cut federal spending so that the taxes which this generation of the young will have to pay will not be an insuperable obstacle in the way of its business and professional advancement?

U. S. Needs Cash Too

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — If you're still smarting from the Christmas bills and flinching at the approach of the fatigued date to pay income taxes it may comfort you a little to know:

Uncle Sam is pinched for cash, too.

His cash balance is considerably lower than he likes it to be. His expenses have been rising. People are redeeming savings bonds and investing their money elsewhere at higher rates.

The Treasury is going into the money market next week to seek a bigger than usual loan. Some folk even eye the gold hoard at Fort Knox as one way out — it's about 500 million dollars bigger than a year ago, and some of it could be turned into money for overseas spending.

Sweetening of the yields of savings bonds could stop the flood of redemptions.

On March 15 corporations will be paying part of their income taxes. By April 15 individuals will be paying part of their income tax.

Tight money and rising interest rates have been behind some of the Treasury's current embarrassments. Last week the Treasury of fered new securities for 10% billion dollars worth of maturing ones. But in an era of tight money, holders of 800 million dollars worth demanded cash instead.

Under the onslaughts from all sides the Treasury's cash on hand has shrunk. A government with debts of 276 billion and planning to spend 72 billion a year doesn't feel comfortable with a cash balance that hovers around two billion dollars.

For several weeks the Treasury has been borrowing extra money and will up the ante further next week. Each week the treasury sells 1.6 billion dollars worth of 91-day bills.

For the last three weeks the Treasury has been getting 100 million dollars extra by selling 1.7 billion dollars worth of bills. Next week it's so pinched for cash it will offer 1.8 billion dollars worth.

This doesn't mean that Uncle Sam is going broke — although some folk have warned that if he doesn't stop spending more each year, he might go broke in time.

When the tax payments roll in — in March, April and June — the Treasury expects to get enough to end up its fiscal year June 30 with a surplus.

Up Those Gold-Plated Stairs

Siam's Lonely Fish Man

By RAYMOND MOLEY

One of the most interesting and instructive documents of the year is the report by Sen. Ellender of Louisiana on his trip last year to 33 foreign countries inspecting our American operations abroad, principally those which bear the somewhat misleading characterization of 'economic aid.'

The senator deserves a resounding vote of thanks for his efforts in this field. Scoring the ease and delights which might be his, for he can be rid of the worry of winning re-election, he has fared forth year after year since 1950, as a part of his responsibilities as a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, to foreign lands to see at first hand how our money is being spent.

It happens that even the fish expert admitted to Sen. Ellender that there is in southern Thailand an abundance of fish and shrimp — sufficient to satisfy all the fishy appetites of the dry north.

At first he visited only embassies and legations. Then he included the foreign-aid program; then he added our so-called "information" service; and, since 1955, our military aid.

He adds to his account of his travels:

"I do not speak boastfully when I say that it has been my privilege to make five complete circuits of the world by air. I have visited every country in the world except two, Bulgaria and Albania."

The American taxpayer is entitled to some amusement for his money, and Sen. Ellender relates many amusing but regrettable examples of our adventures abroad.

It is very expensive entertainment but I believe Americans would like to read herein what might be called the tale of the lonely fish expert in Thailand.

There are equally absurd examples of our spending, notably in South Korea but this one must suffice for today.

In earlier reports of the senator he told of the so-called fisheries project in Thailand.

It seems that Thailand is like New Jersey, wet in the south and dry in the north. Hence the itch of Washingtonian bureaucracy to bring water to arid regions manifested itself over there in the creation of 4,000 fish ponds in the northern part of the country.

Swedish Official Expelled By Soviets

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced today the expulsion of a Swedish Embassy secretary on charges of "illegal activities incompatible with his diplomatic status."

The secretary, Bertil Hermansson, an expert on Slavic languages, left the country nearly a month ago. His ouster appeared to be in retaliation for a current spy case in Sweden. Swedish newspapers said three Soviet Embassy officials have been expelled from Sweden in connection with the case.

Sweden protested the expulsion. An embassy spokesman said the report of the case in Pravda, official newspaper of the Soviet Communist party, "does not tell the whole story."

Pravda gave this account of the incident:

He was "detained by a group of citizens" in January when he "tried to obtain a copy of a Soviet government document." Pravda said he admitted he had tried to get the document by "unofficial channels" and failed to identify himself as a Swedish diplomat when arrested.

In Stockholm, a Foreign Office spokesman said a Russian friend of Hermansson's tried to hand him some papers in a taxi Jan. 9. The taxi driver stopped the car, then drove both men to a police station. Hermansson was permitted to leave the station but was expelled a week later.

The spokesman said the diplomat believed the papers his friend was trying to hand him "were excerpts from a public Soviet decree concerning educational conditions in the Soviet Union."

Butler Grangers To Redecorate Hall

Plans were made to redecorate Butler Grange hall at the regular grange meeting Wednesday evening.

Master Joe Vogelhuber presided when the members voted to contribute to the 4-H premium fund.

The charter was draped in memory of Mrs. Alma Wilson.

Merle Mercer, lecturer, was in charge of the program which included: roll call, "who would like to be"; opening song, "My Bonnie Lies Over the Ocean"; reading by Oliver Conser; highway safety quiz by Wilbur Wood; and a valentine matching contest.

During the juvenile grange meeting, two new gavels were presented by Donny Conser and Freddy Vogelhuber. A dance was planned for the near future.

A valentine exchange was enjoyed during the program. Quizzes on February birthdays of presidents and poets, and the Lincoln penny were held. Freddy Vogelhuber was in charge of a game.

Lunch was served by the social committee.

The next grange meeting will be Feb. 27.

Skyscraper Exhibition Set At Mount Union

ALLIANCE — The Skyscraper, an exhibition organized and circulated by the Museum of Modern Art in New York, will open at Crandall Art Studios, Mount Union College, next Sunday through Sunday, March 10. The evolution of the Skyscraper is illustrated and discussed in 61 panels of photographic enlargements, plans, diagrams and explanatory text.

The art studios will be open Sunday afternoons from 2 to 4 as well as 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on weekdays.

The exhibit will be highlighted also during the arts festival at Mount Union which begins Wednesday evening, Feb. 27, with the first of three nightly productions of Mozart's opera "Don Giovanni" in the Rodman Playhouse and includes a week-long series of recitals, lectures, exhibitions, and discussion programs on the contemporary arts.

Police Question 2 In Liberace Robbery

CHICAGO (AP) — Police arrested two men Friday night for questioning in connection with the robbery of bandleader George Liberace's valuable violin a few hours after FBI agents had recovered the instrument.

Detectives of the narcotics detail said both men were identified by Liberace in a showup as the men who assaulted him and took his violin, insured for $25,000, last Monday.

Rev. and Mrs. William Snowball and their family and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Doyle were special guests.

Liberace, who is appearing with his pianist brother, Lee, at a near North Side night club, suffered deep scalp cuts when two Negroes attacked him as he was on his way to his hotel from the night club. They beat him and also robbed him of $50 and a violin shaped diamond ring he valued at $1,50. Liberace, 43, was confined to a hospital two days. Sixteen stitches were required to close head wounds.

Detectives said one of the men arrested, Arthur Hill, 23, an unemployed bell boy, admitted the robbery. Held with him without formal charge is Veness Smith, 32. Police said both men are registered narcotics addicts. A third man was held for questioning in connection with receiving stolen merchandise, Liberace's ring. He is Reuben Sudberry, 29, also a Negro, and a painter and decorator.

The FBI earlier said the violin had been recovered on the South Side after agents received a tip while investigating the robbery and turned the information over to police.

Death Of Woman Is Under Probe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Authorities continued their investigation today after the body of an unidentified woman was pulled out of Alum Creek here Friday.

It was weighted by a concrete block and iron chain.

The body was discovered after Boyd Anderson, a railroad switchman, reported seeing an arm protruding from the water. The creek is about four feet deep at the point where the body was recovered.

Police estimated the woman was between 15 and 30 years old. They said she may have been in the creek a month or longer.

Dr. Robert A. Evans, Franklin County coroner, ordered a postmortem examination.

A MEETING of the Mothers Study Group in Fairfield School cafeteria for lunch Tuesday at 12:30 p.m. will be followed at 1 by two films, "The Meaning of Adolescence" and "The Physical Aspects of Puberty," to be shown by Mrs. Sybil Degnan, school nurse. All mothers are invited.

Woman Is Killed In Detroit Store

DETROIT (AP) — A woman clerk was shot to death in Detroit's largest downtown department store Friday by a gunman who chased her down a maze of aisles past crowds of terrified shoppers.

Lt. Detective Hiram Phipps said Mrs. Helen Jackson, 50, of suburban Dearborn, was shot three times in the stomach when her estranged husband, Rolin, 52, trapped her in a cubicle-sized buyer's office in the store's second basement. Jackson vanished in the crowd after the shooting.

The following men serve on the Explorer committee with Robert Saunders, leader: Robert Tullis, Eric Nyberg, William Bailey and Duane McDevitt.

A team of scouts trained by Deane gave a demonstration of first aid showing the treatment of patients overcome by smoke, treatments for broken limbs and treatment for shock. Allen Moore, David Woolf, Trevor Lewis, Duane McDevitt, Vernon McDevitt and Darryl Everett comprised the team.

Leetonia Sewage Rates May Be Increased

LEETONIA — Digesters for handling sludge and an elevated settling tank must be set up at the Sewage Plant before the village can retain renewal of its sewage plant permit, Mr. Conrad, a representative of the Ohio Department of Health, told the village council and board public affairs at a meeting here Wednesday night.

However, Conrad said, the rates in the community are only 1-5 or 1-6 per cent of the sewer rates of surrounding areas. So Leetonia must increase its sewage rates to make available funds needed to purchase the equipment, the state health department spokesman said.

Action on the sewage problem in the village must be executed in the near future, the state health department has warned village officials.

Present digesters at the plant are inadequate to aid in the great amount of sewage going into the plant, it is said. Officials fear the overflow might result if the situation is not bettered soon.

Internal Strife Among ILA Leaders Stalls Negotiations

NEW YORK (AP) — Internal strife among dock union leaders has stalled negotiations aimed at settling the Northeast coast water-front strike.

A meeting Friday of the 110-man bargaining committee of the International Longshoremen's Assn. (Ind) erupted into a bolt by leaders of three powerful Manhattan locals.

When the dissident group of about two dozen stalked out of the meeting room, ILA President William V. Bradley shouted: "All right — go ahead: either follow me and stay in, or go out!"

The dissenters, headed by Harold Bowers, whose local controls the luxury liner piers along the Hudson River, went back inside. A few minutes later, the union recessed talks until 11 a.m. today.

Ports from Portland, Maine, to Hampton Roads, Va., stand idle by the strike of 45,000 longshoremen who went out last Tuesday after expiration of an 80-day Taft-Hartley Act injunction. The injunction halted a nine-day East and Gulf port strike on Nov. 24.

For the past two days the union has been mulling over the "final" offer made by the employers, the 170-member New York Shipping Assn. Bradley and Brooklyn dock boss Anthony (Tough Tony) Anastasia apparently are willing to accept the terms and end the walkout.

Opposed are Bowers, head of "pistol" Local 824; Joseph Leonard, who heads the locals controlling Hudson River piers on lower Manhattan; and Fred R. Field Jr., top man in the local with jurisdiction over East River piers and Hudson River piers from the Battery to Vesey street.

The "pistol" local gets its name from its long record of violence. Losses in the struck ports are

Ethiopia Raps Egypt For Subversive Acts

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times said today in a dispatch from Addis Ababa from Emperor Haile Selassie has accused Egypt of fomenting subversion in Ethiopia.

The Emperor made the charge in an interview at his palace with Homer Bigart, Times correspondent, and urged greatly increased U.S. military aid to preserve Ethiopia's independence.

Haile Selassie said Egypt wants to stir up Ethiopia's large Moslem minority, claiming they are being mistreated. The majority of Ethiopians belong to the Coptic branch of Christianity.

The ultimate goal of the alien areas of southeast Ethiopia is Egypt. Somalia, formerly Italian "greater Somalia" subservient to Egypt, is also a Moslem area. The majority of Ethiopians belong to the Coptic branch of Christianity.

Mrs. Brown is Ohio's national Republican committeewoman and is also president of the Ohio Federation of Republican Women's Organizations. This will be her first appearance in Columbiana County in 1960.

Ethiopia has received from America 14 million dollars in military aid and 23 million dollars in economic and technical assistance in the last five years.

Two Women Held On Burglary Count

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police say a maid gave to church, as an offering, $11,000 worth of jewelry belonging to an heiress to the Post cereal fortune.

The owner of the jewelry is the former Marjorie Merriweather Post, now the wife of professional football player Ron Waller of the Los Angeles Rams.

Booked on suspicion of burglary Friday was Mrs. Rosalie McChaney, 50, an employee of Mrs. Waller's family for 26 years. Police say Mrs. McChaney gave the jewelry to the Rev. Minnie Moore, 43, head of the Faith Temple Universal Science Church of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Moore and Ira Harris, 23, organist of the Oakland, Calif., branch of the church, were arrested in Oakland for investigation of burglary here.

The Wallers reported the jewelry stolen from their home last October while the house was being remodeled. They were living in a hotel at the time.

can forces in that area if necessary. Two Senate committees revised a key section of the resolution, but Eisenhower has said he believes the new version is designed to accomplish the purpose he has in mind.

The two-part proposal outlined to Israel by Dulles last Monday called for Israel to withdraw from the Gaza Strip and the Agaba area on assurances that the U.S. would:

1. Support the right of all ships to "innocent passage" through the strait of Tiran into the Gulf of Agaba.

2. Promise to work for stationing of U.N. forces and observers along the Gaza Strip borders to prevent terror raids.

REAL BARGAIN — This painting, purchased for one dollar in a Chicago curio shop, has turned out to be a Winslow Homer valued at $10,000. Miss Carolyn Alson, holding the painting depicting four boys eating watermelon, discovered its true worth when she took it to a Chicago gallery to be cleaned. Ironically, Miss Alson bought the painting in a shop owned by her sister and neither had any idea of its value.

Mrs. J. H. England will preside at the meeting, which is open to all interested women. Members of other Republican Women's Clubs in the area have been invited. A social hour and tea will follow.

Mrs. Brown also is scheduled to speak at a meeting and tea Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. in the Piccadilly Room at the Todd House as guest of the Youngstown Republican Women's Clubs. Members of the local club are invited to attend.

Ohio Finance Director Is Named By O'Neill

COLUMBUS (AP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill today announced the appointment of John A. Skipton director of the Ohio Legislative Service Commission to the post of Ohio finance director.

A native of Marietta, Skipton was at one time factory personnel manager for the Remington-Rand Co., and during World War II commanded one of the major statistical control centers of the U.S. Air Force.

The 37-year-old Skipton is a graduate of Ohio State University and has taken advanced work in statistics at Harvard Business School.

Married and the father of two children he is a member of the National Legislative Conference and the Council of Census Users, and is president of the congregation of the Westminster United Presbyterian Church in Lincoln Village, Columbus suburb.

Skipton replaces John Wilcoxen, who recently was named director of the budget.

JUDGE FOUND GUILTY

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Sentence for Francis D. White, Athens County common pleas judge found guilty of drunk driving, has been deferred until Tuesday to give White a chance to file a motion for a new trial.

A municipal court jury found White guilty Friday after debating more than an hour. The trial took two days. The charge was filed by Patrolman Ted Frey after White's car collided with another auto here Jan. 16.

PROBE INCENDIARY BLAZE

CINCINNATI (AP) — Fifty cadets at the Ohio Military Institute here were forced from their dormitory early today by fire which Acting Fire Marshal Fred Breitbeil said was of incendiary origin.

The cadets were moved to other dormitories although the damage was estimated at only about $300.

Breitbeil said firemen found torn paper and magazines on steps between the first and second floors. Cadets occupying rooms at the top of the stairway were awakened by smoke and roused other occupants of the building.

STRIKE CLOSES PLANT

CLEVELAND (AP) — A strike by 400 production workers has shut down the Eaton Manufacturing Co. axle plant here. The walkout Friday, termed a wildcat strike by Robert Ochs, plant general manager, resulted from the suspension of two shop committeemen. Ochs said the two refused to obey the orders of a foreman.

Claiming the men were fired and not suspended, officials of Local 21 of the Mechanics Educational Society of America reportedly called the strike. The plant employs 1,600 and manufactures heavy-duty truck axles.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hawkins of Kensington, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McKarns of Hanoverton.

Arrangements of red carnations and white sweetpeas provided the altar decor. Leonard Welch of Hanoverton presided at the organ. Soloist Joseph Orin of Minerva sang "I Love You Truly," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in ariage by her father, the bride was beautifully gowned in a white brocaded satin creation in the princess style. A scalloped neckline and a train were highlighted by a lengthy veil of French illusion net held in place with a heart-shaped tiara of rhinestones and orange blossoms.

The bride's flowers were white carnations which were placed on a white Bible. Her pearl necklace was a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Orlan Stoffer of Minerva, sister of the bride and matron of honor, was attired in a pink figured taffeta gown and she carried a white carnation bouquet. The gowns of both the bride and honor matron were designed by the bride.

Wilbur McKarns of RD 1, Hanoverton, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man, and ushers were Larry Lee Stoffer of Minerva and Mrs. McKarns of Hanoverton.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hawkins was attired in a light blue lace over satin gown with black accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Mrs. McKarns was attired in a beige lace over taffeta dress with blue accessories. Her corsage was also of pink carnations.

About 200 guests greeted the couple at the reception in the church basement. A three tier cake was adorned with lace doilies and red hearts and was highlighted with lighted candles.

Assisting in serving were Mrs. Harold Hawkins of Lisbon, Mrs. Frank Murray of Guilford, Mrs. Charles Finnium of Richville, Mrs. Hughie Smith of Wellsville, Mrs. Wilbur McKarns of Hanoverton and Mrs. Clayton Baker of East Rochester.

When the couple departed on a two-week honeymoon tour of Florida the bride was wearing blue and white acetate taffeta dress with black accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations from the bridal bouquet.

Mrs. McKarns is a graduate of Carrollton High School. Mr. McKarns, a Salineville High School graduate, served two years in the Army and is now a dairy farmer.

GOOD TRAVELERS. — Enthusiasts about the synthetic fabrics sing their praises whenever travel is mentioned. And since a good share of our population has taken to travel, this means there are many supporters of the fabrics that brush off wrinkles even after hours on train or plane. For travel any time of the year, we show (left) Belciano's suit with coordinated blouse in dacron and imported flax. Little jacket is cut tuxedo-style and faced with the crepe used for the blouse. Skirt is fitted to the hipline, then breaks into graceful pleats. Equally adaptable is a three-piece boucle-knit suit (right) of orlon. The fabric has a tweedy texture. Solid color is used for yoke and cuffs of the suit and for the slipover sweater. This design is by Bannister. The next time you shop for travel clothes, keep these wonder fabrics in mind. They can save a lot of grooming headaches.

Wallace Leads In Cage Scoring

Tallies 44 Markers Against Virginia

By PETE PEDERSEN

The Associated Press
As the governor of South Carolina said to the governor of North Carolina today: "Luther, we've got it made!"

The governor was, of course, speaking of college basketball's two hottest items: 1, South Carolina's Grady Wallace, the nation's leading scorer, and 2, North Carolina's Tar Heels, owners of a 20-game victory streak plus national top ranking.

Wallace made it a daily double for the neighboring Carolinas Friday night, booming 44 points through the nets as South Carolina spanked Virginia 97-79. That zoomed him from third place to first in his ding-dong battle for scoring honors with Chet Forte of Columbia and Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas.

Graceful Grady garnered eight points more than he needed to assume the lead, and finished the night's work with a season's average of 30.57 points per game, compared to Forte's 30.18 and Chamberlain's 29.94.

While Wallace was amassing his point lead, other college greats were prospering. Kentucky, third-ranked in the weekly Associated Press poll, smashed a Chicago Stadium scoring record in routing Loyola of Chicago 115-65. Johnny Cox scored 32 points as the Wildcats became the first college team to break 100 at the Stadium.

Brigham Young continued its dominance of the Skyline Conference, using a 30-point chore by Tom Steinke to quell Colorado A&M 81-66. That left BYU with an 8-1 record.

Fourth-ranked Seattle University topped West Coast warfare with an 88-76 overtime victory over Gonzaga of Spokane. In the Pacific Coast Conference, Washington kept in the title picture by beating tail-end Oregon 84-62. UCLA crushed Stanford 86-63, and Southern California fought off Washington State 73-63.

Columbiana Drops 9th Season Game

Columbiana's Clippers dropped their ninth game in 15 starts Friday night at Louisville when they lost out to the Leopards 66-57.

The winners led by only one point at the intermission 25-24, but broke loose in the third stanza to take a seven marker advantage going into the final quarter.

Louisville then outscored Columbiana in the fourth period to finish the contest by nine points on top.

Bill Murphy fired in 30 counters for the Leopards while Columbiana's offensive punch was led by Jack Dowd's 10 points.

COLUMBIANA — 57
Russell 3, 10, 6; Davidson 1, 1, 3; Dowd 5, 11; Poulton 5, 0, 10; Warlick 7, 3, 17; Murphy 2, 1, 5.
LOUISVILLE — 66
Kerstetter 1, 3, 5; Murphy 18, 2, 30; Stump 2, 2, 6; Agnes 9, 4, 22; Klein 1, 1, 3; Columbiana 10, 24, 42, 57-57; Louisville 11, 23, 49, 66-66

Indoor Mile Record May Topple Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — If Fred Dwyer proves as determined as advance notices would indicate, then the world indoor mile record of 4:03.6 could topple tonight in the New York Athletic Club games in Madison Square Garden.

Not that Dwyer will be the one to break it. Ronnie Delany, the Olympic 1,500 meter champion from Ireland and Villanova, is the most likely candidate.

Dwyer and Delany haven't met since last June in Compton, Calif., when Ronnie ran a 3:59 mile. Dwyer, who was third in that race, was timed in 4:00.8.

Dwyer wants to go under four minutes sometime before the summer, and while he would not be so rash as to predict success in this particular meet, he doesn't aim to let Delany toy with him.

If Dwyer can push him by building up a big lead and then try to fight off Ronnie's finishing kick, Gunnar Nielsen's indoor standard could fall.

Other than the mile, there is another meeting between Arnie Sowell and Tom Courtney in the half-mile, a three-pronged battle among Laszlo Tabori, Horace Ashenfelter and John Macy in the two-mile and a Charlie Jenkins-Rexie Pearman duel in the 500.

The win was Ashland's 14th in 17 starts.

Behind 19 points going into the last stanza and playing their final home game of the season, the Red and Black put on a strong rally that fell short of clinching the victory by only a few markers.

Poor play during the early part of the fray hampered the Cabasmen's chances considerably. A lack of shooting accuracy, inability to make free throws, and a ragged defensive were displayed by the local quintet.

From the field Salem attempted 83 shots and meshed 27 for a 32.5 percentage. From the foul lane they made 13 of 23 gift shots for 56.5 per cent.

Ashland out-rebounded the locals, clearing the backboards 82 times while the Red and Black grabbed 45 rebounds. The Arrows shot 105 shots but could only hit on 28 for a low 26.6 percentage. From the charity circle they made 17 of 22 attempts for a high 77.2 per cent.

ASHLAND HIT THE nets on only three of 29 tries in the first period but managed to take a 9 to 8 lead as Salem scored on only two of 22 tries. By intermission time the Arrows had built a 27-23 lead. In the third quarter Ashland meshed the nets for 30 markers and held a commanding 57-38 lead going into the last stanza.

John Stephenson led the Salem attack, scoring six baskets and four fouls for 16 markers. John's overall play was off last night. His offensive play was set by shots that were in and out of the baskets, his defensive play was somewhat off pace, and he threw some bad passes to his teammates.

Jim Meissner played probably his best game of the season, netting eight field goals for 16 points. Jim's defensive play is improving each game out and he looked exceptionally sharp last night.

MARK FENTON, usually a rough customer, found the Arrow height somewhat tough to handle, but he managed to make six baskets and four foul shots for 16 markers.

Ted Jackson, who had one of those nights in which nothing seems to click, hit on two baskets for four points. Bill Pauline pushed through the nets three fielders and three fouls for nine points. Lou Slaby entered the game in the third quarter and contributed heavily to the comeback made by the Quakers in the fourth period.

Lou meshed the nets for two baskets for four points, but his rebounding in the final phases of the game led the Cabasmen in their efforts to pull the contest out of the fire.

Dave Brubaker was everything you would expect of a basketball player. He led his Ashland team in total points, scored, making 13 baskets and six fouls for 32 markers. His defensive play was very good and he pulled down many rebounds off both boards.

JIM DIFFENDORFER tallied five fielders and three fouls for 13 points for the visitors, and Jim Miller and Larry Brockway hit for nine points apiece for the visitors. Officials for last night contest were John Dalrymple of Akron and Cliff Stubblefield of Elyria.

Salem will take its 13 and four record into tournament play next Friday night against Youngstown Chaney, and then play its last regularly scheduled game of the season at Canton Central next Saturday night.

SALEM — 67
Fenton 6, 4, 16; Jackson 2, 0, 4; Pauline 3, 3, 9; Stephenson 6, 6, 18; Meissner 8, 10; Slaby 2, 0, 4; Adams 0, 0.

ASHLAND — 73
Brubaker 13, 6, 32; Miller 2, 5, 9; Lovell 0, 2, 2; Diffendorfer 5, 3, 13; Brockway 4, 1, 9; Lee 3, 0, 6; Edwards 1, 0, 2; Ashland 9, 18, 39, 16-73; Salem 8, 15, 15, 29-67

Trial Of Fighter Approaching End

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Final arguments come next in the trial of third-ranking welterweight Art Aragon on fight-fixing charges.

Testimony was concluded Friday after four witnesses testified that Dick Goldstein—who accuses Aragon of offering him $500 to "take a dive"—had a "bad reputation."

Another defense witness was boxer Lauro Salas, who said, "I don't like Mr. Aragon, period." But Salas testified that the "golden boy" advised him before a 1952 bout:

"In case you get hit, go down . . . don't play the hero."

Aragon has maintained that was what he told Goldstein prior to a fight scheduled for Dec. 18 in San Antonio, Tex. The fight was called off when Aragon claimed he was sick. Goldstein then charged he had been offered $500 by Aragon to "go down and stay down."

Aragon, a Los Angeles fighter, has contended during the trial that he warned Goldstein against being a "hero" because he didn't like to hurt fighters or "cut them up."

ONE OF MANY THAT MISSED—Lou Slaby, (24) is shown (L) above as he leaps to the edge of the basket in an attempt to tip in a shot during Salem's late rally against Ashland last evening. But this shot, like most of Salem's shots in the game, failed to connect.

Right, Quaker co-captain John Stephenson bounces high into the air as he back-hands a shot into the basket late in the game. Poised for any rebound at left is the Quakers' Jim Meissner (22). Ashland won the game 73-67.

Fights I Can't Forget . . . No. 6

Welsh Rated Leonard Easy, But Ref Had To Save Him

By NAT FLEISCHER

Written for NEA Service

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The only way a champion could lose his title in the days of the no-decision bouts was to be knocked out, and Freddie Welsh wasn't worrying about anything like that happening to him. They didn't come any shiftier or smarter than the 31-year-old Welshman.

So it was just another payday when Welsh walked into the Manhattan Casino on May 28, 1917, to fight Benny Leonard. Freddie wasn't worrying. He had met Leonard in two previous bouts and while conceding that the youngster had been improving steadily, Freddie still didn't worry.

As he fell, Welsh grabbed the lower rope and pulled himself up. It was poor judgment. With no rest, he walked into a right to the jaw and was down again. He got up and Leonard gave him a moment, feeling Welsh would fall by himself. When he didn't, Benny stepped in with a right. Welsh, head tilted forward, caught it behind the left ear. He crashed to the floor again—but picked himself up once more.

Benny Leonard

from the start. He used dazzling footwork to dance in and out, firing left hooks and jabs, and looking for the spot to drop in his right.

WELSH WAS A DIFFICULT target. He caught most of Benny's punches on his arms and shoulders. Leonard then shifted his attack to the body. A couple of left hooks got under Welsh's guard and drew loud grunts.

In his first bout with Leonard, Freddie dawdled through 10 rounds and Leonard, who hustled, took the newspaper decision. The publicity didn't set well with Welsh and in a return he showed up in shape and handed Benny a boxing lesson.

Now it was the third bout and Welsh was disinterested. He weighed in at 94.5 pounds and was nearly four pounds over the lightweight limit. Leonard weighed 133.

Leonard set a blistering pace right to the face. Freddie ducked into the punch and it crashed against his forehead. Welsh's knees buckled. Leonard was on top of him with a volley. Welsh reeled toward his corner, tried to fight back, but took a right and dropped to the canvas.

As he fell, Welsh grabbed the lower rope and pulled himself up. It was poor judgment. With no rest, he walked into a right to the jaw and was down again. He got up and Leonard gave him a moment, feeling Welsh would fall by himself. When he didn't, Benny stepped in with a right. Welsh, head tilted forward, caught it behind the left ear. He crashed to the floor again—but picked himself up once more.

AS WELSH TOTTERED to his feet, Benny piled in. Welsh sagged into the ropes. His legs gave, so he wrapped his right arm around the upper rope and hung on as Leonard poured leather into him. Welsh was a man who never quit.

Blood was gushing from Welsh's face as the crowd yelled, "Stop it!"

Referee McPartland did. He pushed Leonard away and helped Welsh to his feet. As Freddie stood up, he fell back on the ropes and rebounded clear across the ring. Drunkenly, he went headlong through the ropes on the other side.

Welsh had lost his title, but lost it gallantly. And boxing was beginning one of its most spectacular reigns. Leonard went on to establish himself as one of the most magnificent artists the ring has seen. And he won his title in a fight I can't forget.

NEXT: Mickey Walker and Harry Greb and, yes, they did have fights like this.

Winter Baseball Managers Report Talented Players

By JACK HAND

HAVANA (AP) — Attention big league managers: Here is the latest scouting report from winter baseball by men who won pennants or playoffs in Puerto Rico, Venezuela, Cuba and Panama.

If these managers have the right dope, some keen talent is on the way to the major leagues. Most of the players have been up before, but now many carry "can't miss" tags for 1957.

The leadoff man is Mickey Owen, manager of Mayaguez, which won the Puerto Rican playoffs. Here's how Mickey sizes up the top men in Puerto Rico.

"Bob Speake — ready for the majors. Probably left fielder for the Chicago Cubs. Good power. Also can play first base.

"Bob Wilson — led Venezuela in hitting. The only question is his fielding which is about on a par with Sandy Amoros. He has a chance for the Dodger's left field.

Nap Reyes, who managed Marianao to the Cuban pennant and won the Caribbean series is also enthusiastic.

"Bob Smith — the outstanding pitcher in Cuba in 30 years. A sure bet to hold the number one job with the Cardinals. He hit in fifth spot behind Minnie Minoso.

"Jim Bunning — Best American pitcher in the league. With improved control he could give a big boost to Detroit.

Salem Reserves Rip Ashland 83-70

By BOB JULIAN

Racking up victory number 15 against only two defeats, Coach Karl Zellers' Salem High School junior varsity quintet bounded out a 83-70 triumph over the Ashland

BOWLING SCORES

QUAKER CITY AMERICAN

Arrow reserves last night in the local gym. Ashland went down to its seventh setback in 16 outings.

Both clubs demonstrated to the how to make foul shots when they counted. The Quakers, having another excellent night from the free throw lane, dropped in 27 of 39 attempts for a high percentage of 68, while the Arrows netted 72 per cent of their attempts, bagging 20 of 35.

FROM THE FIELD both squads were comparatively equal. The Zellersmen pumped in 28 of 74 shots for 36 per cent. Ashland meshed 34 per cent, dropping in 25 of 73 tries.

The tilt started out as though it would be a tight encounter. Both clubs played even ball throughout the initial period, with the Quakers edging out the Arrows 25-25.

Ashland opened the contest when Jack Kehl pumped in a two-pointer to give the visitors a 2-0 margin. Salem's Darryl Adams tied up the tilt with a basket, the first of five instances that the game was tied in the first eight minutes.

With three and a half minutes remaining in the canto and Ashland leading 17-16, Butch Platt put the Red and Black into the lead 18-17 and the Quakers from this point on were in command.

ADAMS PACED THE Salemites in the frame with 10 markers.

Showing the way for the Arrows in the stanza was Larry Miller with 16 tallies.

Opening play in the second frame was Salem's Lou Slaby who hit on a two-pointer to increase the Quakers' lead to 30-25. Ashland, playing fired-up ball, came within three points of Salem in the quarter 34-31 before the Zellersmen picked up the tempo of the first stanza.

Adams, Slaby and Woody Deitch sparked the locals to a 40-31 advantage with four minutes left in the period. Ashland's Steve Enck countered the Arrows' last points of the period when he closed the gap to 40-33. However, Deitch, Platt and Adams then went to work and ran the count to 50-33 at halftime.

John Sturgeon, playing his best game of the year, was a big factor in the Zellersmen's drive to the big intermission lead. Big John rimmed 10 points in the half and pulled down 13 rebounds to control both boards.

COMING OUT AFTER the half-time rest, the visiting Ashland team outscored the Salemites 18-15 to close the Quakers' lead after three periods to 65-51.

Coach Zellers inserted freshman Danny Krichbaum into the lineup at the outset of the period, and Krichbaum played an outstanding floor game, as well as scoring the points when they counted.

Krichbaum and Adams sparked the locals to a 55-35 lead early in the period.

Platt connected on a jump shot at the start of the fourth canto to move the Quakers out to a 67-51 margin, but the Ashland boys drilled in seven consecutive markers to come within nine points 67-58 with five and a half minutes left in the game.

Salem's Woody Deitch, displaying some fancy foul shooting, garnered the next six points scored in the tilt and moved the Quakers out to a 73-58 lead with three minutes remaining to be played.

DESPITE THE Quakers' accuracy at the charity stripe, Ashland outscored Salem 19-18 in the final eight minutes but the locals breezed easily into victory.

The big gun for the locals was Deitch, who netted five field goals and 13 of foul shots for a total of 23 markers. Behind Woody were Adams, Sturgeon and Platt with 16, 12 and 10 tallies, respectively.

Meshing a total of 28 points to take scoring honors for the night was Ashland's Larry Miller. Miller also played a fine floor game and hauled down his share of the rebounds.

All Big Ten Teams To Play

Top-Rated Indiana Faces Northwestern

By The Associated Press
Indiana's league - leading

Hoosiers hold the key to the Big Ten basketball race with all 10 teams scheduled to play today.

Indiana (6-2) is at Northwestern in a regionally televised matinee (1:30 p.m. CST—ABC). Tonight, Wisconsin (1-6) is at Ohio State (6-3); Illinois (5-3) is at Michigan (4-4); Iowa (3-4) is at Michigan State (5-3) and Purdue (5-4) is at Minnesota (4-4).

An Indiana victory over Northwestern would be a long step towards the title since Big Ten teams haven't been winning on the road.

An Indiana loss would really throw the standings in an upheaval giving every team at least three losses.

As the race now stands, Purdue, Michigan, Minnesota and Iowa must win to remain in the running since each is burdened with four losses.

If Indiana wins, then neither Ohio State, Illinois nor Michigan State can afford a loss because it would put the losing teams two full games behind the Hoosiers in the loss column.

Northwestern could give the Hoosiers a rough time. The team is loaded with improving sophomores and the Wildcats scored 97 points Monday night at Champaign before bowing to a late Illinois

If the Wildcats are as sharp against Indiana, they don't figure to lose on their home court.

YOUR INCOME TAX PRIMER

If In Business, Keep Records

By RICHARD A. MULLENS

Written for NEA Service

One thing the Revenue Service has made sure of is that there is a place on Form 1040 for reporting any kind of income.

There is even a four-page separate Schedule C for reporting income from a business or profession.

Schedule C is more complicated and generally raises more problems than the rest of Form 1040, especially if the business requires considerable property in its operations. If your business income is substantial, it is advisable to have an expert give his personal attention to your tax problem.

MANY OF YOU, however, have only small businesses, perhaps a hobby or sideline business, with relatively little income or property. If you have kept proper records during the year, you should be able to fill out Schedule C yourself with the help of the official instructions and this article of the Tax Primer.

Only persons in business by themselves should use Schedule C. This means the man who owns his own shop or practices a profession by himself. Do not use Schedule C to report income from a partnership or any payments received as an employee.

Even though you are an employee, you may also operate a separate business on the side. In that case, report your employee income on page 1 of Form 1040 and your business income and expenses on Schedule C.

Before filling out Schedule C, read over the information on page 7 of the official instructions under "Business or Profession." Then refer to a copy of Schedule C as you read the following tips:

LINE 1 CALLS FOR your total receipts. This is largely a matter of keeping adequate records throughout the year. If you made any allowances for returned goods, rebates, or discounts, subtract such amounts from your total receipts as indicated on the form.

If you produce, buy or sell merchandise, use lines 2 to 9 to compute and deduct the cost of the goods sold. The important thing in this computation is to show the correct amount of inventory on hand at Jan. 1, 1956, on line 2, and the inventory on hand at Dec. 31, 1956, on line 8. The official instructions on the back of Schedule C tell you to figure inventory. You may have difficulty in determining which expenses you may deduct on the various lines provided. Deductions must meet the following three requirements:

1. Expense must be incurred in your trade or business.

2. Expense must not be for a capital item. This means that if you buy something which would ordinarily last more than one year or if you improve your property, such expenditure is not deductible except through depreciation spread over the life of the property.

3. The expense must be ordinary and necessary in the carrying on of your business. Do not deduct expenditures from your business for your own personal or family comfort.

DEDUCTIONS are allowed to professional and business men for expenses incurred in attending business conventions in other cities.

If it turns out that your deductible expenses exceed your business income, you will end up with a net loss on line 23 of Schedule C. This loss can be deducted from your other income reported on Form 1040.

If the loss exceeds your other income, you have a net operating loss which can be used to offset income in other years. Some taxpayers may have special circumstances which require adjustment to such losses. If you have a loss, it is advisable to check the computation with your tax collector or tax advisor.

Page 3 of Schedule C contains spaces for computing the self-employment tax. Effective with income received in 1956, lawyers and many other self-employed groups who formerly were not covered by social security, now have to fill out Schedule SE and pay a self-employment tax.

FOR 1956 THE TAX IS three per cent of the first $4,200 income. If you are also employed and have the social security tax (F.I.C.A.) deducted from your wages, the three per cent self-employment tax is applied only if such wages are less than $4,200 and then only on the difference between $4,200 and such wages. If your business income is less than $400, there is no self-employment tax imposed.

Note that you may have self-employment income as a member of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Whitacre.

of a partnership. Partnership income itself is computed on a separate return (Form 1065). This is an information return which shows how the partnership income is divided among the partners. Each partner then reports his share of the income on Form 1040 were it becomes part of his taxable income.

The self-employment tax will never be more than $126. It will be less if your self-employment income is less than $4,200 or if you had wages from which social security tax was deducted.

Be sure to fill out Schedule SE at the bottom of page 3 carefully and completely. This information establishes your rights to valuable social security benefits. Note that only one name is shown on Schedule SE. If both you and your wife had self-employment tax to pay, use a separate Schedule C and SE for each.

After you have completed the separate Schedule C, transfer the net profit or loss to line 8, page 1 of Form 1040 and the self-employment tax to line 15 on page 1 of Form 1040.

IF CORDIALITY WERE MONEY . . .

. . . the folks who already live in FRANKLIN HOMES would need their own private bank.

And it figures . . . because there's something about Franklin Homes that makes people wax convivial.

Maybe it's the looks of the place — with its sleek, carefully-curved streets and gracefully contoured lawns. Maybe it's Franklin Home's creditable location — six blocks to school, 5 minutes to town, a casual walk to church, a piddling five blocks to Centennial Park.

Or quite possible it's our exciting Midwest Homes that make lucky Franklin Homes residents so singularly smiley. They're well-designed two, three and four bedroom models complete with full basements, tile baths, kitchen disposers, aluminum screens and storm doors . . .

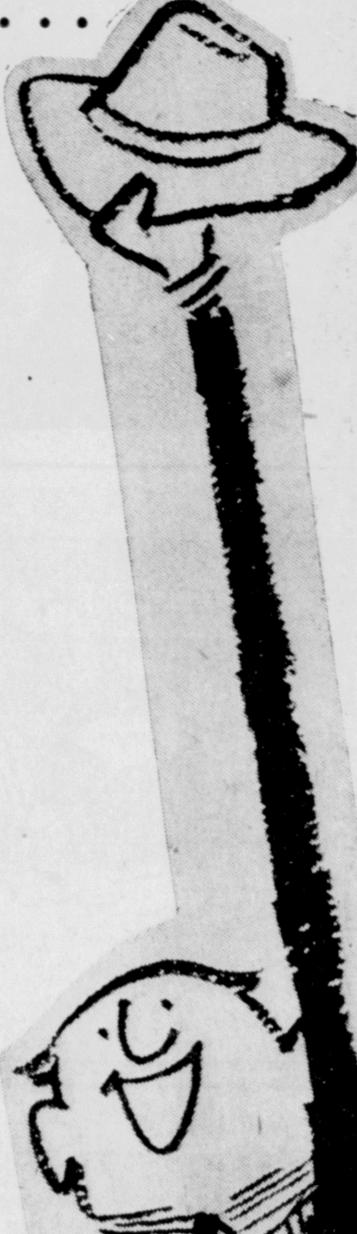

you name it. They're produced by famous Midwest Homes, Inc., and built by the finest workmen at all Columbian County. And they're realistically priced from $13,500 to $21,500, depending on the model you pick (VA, FHA financing available).

Worth a ten-minute browse, wouldn't you say?
